“WORLD EXPO 2020 DUBAI”

At the February CCAC meeting, Adrian Smith, Gordon Gill and Richard Wilson will present an overview of AS+GG master planning for Expo 2020 Dubai and design of Al Wasl Plaza the central attraction of the event. The Expo is one part of a strategic initiative to grow the city of Dubai and its logistics and aviation sectors; therefore, planning and design address both event and legacy buildouts.

Adrian Smith is an architect of international renown having designed many landmark buildings, including Trump Tower in Chicago and the two tallest structures in the world – Burj Khalifa in Dubai, completed in 2010, and Jeddah Tower, currently being constructed in Saudi Arabia. As a former president of CCAC, Smith has played active roles in numerous Chicago developments and transformative civic initiatives.

Gordon Gill is one of the world’s foremost exponents of performance-based architecture. His work ranges from the world’s tallest buildings to sustainable communities and is driven by his philosophy that there is a purposeful relationship between formal design and performance.

Richard Wilson leads the City Design Practice of AS+GG. He is an architect and city planner with three decades of experience working with public and private sector clients to envision, design and build large-scale urban districts in historic and emergent cities worldwide.

The firm’s recent work in Chicago includes “The Yard” at Chicago Shakespeare Theater, the expansion of Steppenwolf Theater, the Chicago Architecture Center, the North Branch Framework and site design of Pullman National Monument.
